98	Case based question Ideas of national unity in early-nineteenth-century Europe were closely allied to the ideology of liberalism. The term 'liberalism' derives from the Latin root liber, meaning free. For the new middle classes liberalism stood for freedom for the individual and equality of all before the law. Politically, it emphasised the concept of government by consent. Since the French Revolution, liberalism had stood for the end of autocracy and clerical privileges, a constitution and representative government through parliament. Nineteenth-century liberals also stressed the inviolability of private property. Yet, equality before law did not necessarily stand for universal suffrage. Men without property and all women were excluded from political rights. 1. Define Liberalism? 2. What was the meaning of liberalism for the new middle class in Europe? 3. What do you mean by universal suffrage? 4. Who were excluded from political rights?	4
99	Case based question 1. Identify the painting. 2. Who had prepared the painting? a) Giuseppe Mazzini b) Frederic Sorrieu c) Henry Patullo.	4

	d) Duke Metternich

	Economists began to think in terms of the national economy. They talked of how the nation could develop and what economic measures could help forge this nation together. Friedrich List, Professor of Economics at the University of Tübingen in Germany, wrote in 1834: 'The aim of the zollverein is to bind the Germans economically into a nation. It will strengthen the nation materially as much by protecting its interests externally as by stimulating its internal productivity. It ought to awaken and raise national sentiment through a fusion of individual and provincial interests. The German people have realised that a free economic system is the only means to engender national feeling.
	17(i) What was Zollverin? When was it formed? 17(ii) "The aim of the Zollverin is to bind the Germans economically in to expressed these words? 17(iii) Mention two points on the importance of a Free economic system.

	Socially and politically, a landed aristocracy was the dominant class on the continent. The members of this class were united by a common way of life that cut across regional divisions. They owned estates in the countryside and also town-houses. They spoke French for purposes of diplomacy and in high society. Their families were often connected by ties of marriage. This powerful aristocracy was, however, numerically a small group. The majority of the population was made up of the peasantry. To the west, the bulk of the land was farmed by tenants and small owners, while in Eastern and Central Europe the pattern of landholding was characterised by vast estates which were cultivated by serfs. 18(i)Who were serfs? 18(ii)How was aristocracy united? 18(iii)Explain the emergence of new middle class by giving two examples.
102	Read the given extract and answer the questions that follow: Female allegories were invented by artists in the nineteenth century to represent the nation. In France she was christened Marianne, a popular Christian name, which underlined the idea of a people's nation. Her characteristics were drawn from those of Liberty and the Republic – the red cap, the tricolour, the cockade. Statues of Marianne were erected in public squares to remind the public of the national symbol of unity and to persuade them to identify with it. Marianne images were marked on coins and stamps. Similarly, Germania became the allegory of the German nation. In visual representations, Germania wears a crown of oak leaves, as the German oak stands for heroism. 19(i) What does a crown of oak leaves symbolise worn by Germania?	4

	19(ii) Why were statues of Marianne erected in public squares of France?
	19(iii) What is an allegory ? How were they represented through specific objects or symbols?

In 1848, Frédéric Sorrieu, a French artist, prepared a series of four prints visualising his dream of a world made up of 'democratic and social Republics', as he called them. As you would recall, artists of the time of the French Revolution personified Liberty as a female figure-here you can recognise the torch of Enlightenment she bears in one hand and the Charter of the Rights of Man in the other. On the earth in the foreground of the image lie the shattered remains of the symbols of absolutist institutions. In Sorrieu's utopian vision, the peoples of the world are grouped as distinct nations, identified through their flags and national costume. Leading the procession, way past the statue of Liberty, are the United States and Switzerland, which by this time were already nation-states. France, identifiable by the revolutionary tricolour, has just reached the statue. The concept and practices of a modern state, in which a centralised power exercised sovereign control over a clearly defined territory, had been developing over a long period of time in Europe. But a nation-state was one in which the majority of its citizens, and not only its rulers, came to develop a sense of common identity and shared history or descent. 1. What was the theme of painting made by French artist? 2. The utopian vision of French artist Frédéric Sorrieu was ___ 3. Explain about Utopian vision. 108 Read the paragraph and answer the questions given below: The most serious source of nationalist tension in Europe after 1871 was the area called the Balkans. The Balkans was a region of geographical and ethinic variation comprising modern day Romania, Bulgaria, Albania, Greece, Macedonia, Croatia, Bosnia - Herzegovina, Slovenia, Serbia and Montenegro whose inhabitants were broadly known as the Slavs. A large part of the Balkans was under the control of the Ottoman Empire. The spread of the ideas of romantic nationalism in the Balkans together with the disintegration of the Ottoman Empire made this region very explosive. All through the nineteenth century the Ottoman Empire had sought to strengthen itself through modernization and internal reforms but with very little success. One by one, it's European subject nationalities broke away from its control and declare independence. The Balkans people based their claims for independence or political rights on nationality and used history to prove that they had once been independent but had subsequently been subjugated by foreign powers. Hence the rebellious nationalities in the Balkans thought of their struggles as attempts to win back their long lost independence. 1. The Balkan people based their claims for ______ or _____ on nationality. 2. The spread of the ideas of Romantic nationalism was responsible for ______. 3. Which were the countries formed in Balkan region? Secret societies sprang up in many European states to train revolutionaries and spread their ideas. To be revolutionary at this time meant a commitment to oppose monarchical forms that had been established. after the Vienna Congress, and to fight for liberty and freedom. Most of these revolutionaries also saw the creation of nation-states as a necessary part of this struggle for freedom. One such individual was the Italian revolutionary Giuseppe Mazzini. He subsequently founded two more underground societies, first, Young Italy in Marseilles, and then, Young Europe in Berne, whose members were likeminded young men from Poland, France, Italy and the German states. Mazzini believed that God had intended nations to be the natural units of mankind. So, Italy could not continue to be a patchwork of small states and kingdoms. It had to be forged into a single unified republic within a wider alliance of nations. This unification alone could be the basis of Italian liberty. Following his model, secret societies were set up in Germany, France, Switzerland and Poland. Mazzini's relentless opposition to monarchy and his

10	From the very beginning, the French revolutionaries introduced various measures and practices that could create a sense of collective identity amongst the French people. The ideas of la patric (the fatherland) and le citoyen (the citizen) emphasised the notion of a united community enjoying equal rights under a constitution. A new French flag, the tricolour, was chosen to replace the former royal standard. The Estates General was elected by the body of active citizens and renamed the National Assembly. New hymns were composed, oaths taken and martyrs commemorated, all in the name of the nation. A centralised administrative system was put in place and it formulated uniform laws for all citizens within its territory. Internal customs duties and dues were abolished and a uniform system of weights and measures was adopted. Regional dialects were discouraged and French, as it was spoken and written in Paris, became the common language of the nation. The revolutionaries further declared that it was the mission and the destiny of the French nation to liberate the peoples of Europe from despotism, in other words to help other peoples of Europe to become nations. When the news of the events in France reached the different cities of Europe, students and other members of educated middle classes began setting up Jacobin clubs. Their activities and campaigns prepared the way for the French armies which moved into Holland, Belgium, Switzerland and much of Italy in the 1790s. With the outbreak of the revolutionary wars, the French armies began to carry the idea of nationalism abroad. A. Who elected the Estates General? B. What was the purpose of centralised administrative system? 1 What happened when news of the events in France reached the different cities of Europe?	4

The liberal politician Carl Welcker, an elected member of the Frankfurt Parliament, expressed the following views:

Nature has created men and women to carry out different functions ... Man, the stronger, the bolder and freer of the two, has been designated as protector of the family, its provider, meant for public tasks in the domain of law, production defence. Woman, the weaker, dependent and timid, requires the protection of man. Her sphere is the home, the care of the children, the nurturing of the family ... Do we require any further proof that given such differences, equality between the sexes would only endanger harmony and destroy the dignity of the family? Louise Otto-Peters (1819-95) was a political activist who founded a women's journal and subsequently a feminist political association. the first issue of her newspaper (21 April 1849) carried the following edit... It is indeed ridiculous and unreasonable to deny women political rights even though they enjoy the right to property which they make use of. They perform functions and assume responsibilities without owe getting the benefits that accrue to men for the same... Why this injustice? Is it not a disgrace that even the stupidest cattle-herder possesses the right to vote, simply because he is a man, whereas highly talented women owning considerable property are excluded from this right, even though they contribute so much to the maintenance of the state?'

They stood for the freedom of individual and equality of all before the low. Following were the political, social and economic ideas supported by the liberals. Political ideas-The ideology of liberalism supported the ideas of national unity and abolition of aristocratic privileges. It also advocated for a constitutional and representative government through parliament. It did not stand for the idea of universal suffrage. Social ideas- They supported freedom for the individual and idea of equality of all before the law. Economic ideas- There was freedom of market and abolition of state imposed restrictions on the movement of goods and capital. Zollverein abolished tariff barriers and reduced the number of currencies. Introduction of a system of weights and measures also strengthen the ideology of liberalism.
84	Romanticism refers to a cultural movement which sought to develop a particular form of national sentiments. Romanticism artists and poets generally criticized the glorification of reason and science and focused on emotions, institutions and mystical feeling. Their efforts was to create a sense of shared collective heritage, a common culture of past, as the basis of nation. Some German Romantics believed that through folk songs, the true sprit of the nation can be popularized. German culture was to be discovered among common people.
85	Firstly, it was decided by the treaty of Vienna to restore the monarchies that had been over thrown by Napoleon and to create a new conservatism in Europe Secondly, autocracy was given preference over democratic set up. All attempts were made to curb criticism and dissents

	Thirdly, all attempts were made to preserve the church, social hierarchies, property and family as was done to preserve the monarchy.
86	(i) Oppression of people under absolute rulers.
	(ii) Liberal ideas spread by well-known philosophers and leaders.
	(iii) The French Revolution inspired the people to fight for freedom. The slogan 'Liberty, Equality and Fraternity' became the clarion call for the common people
87	(i) Greece was viewed as a part of Europe that had been annexed by Ottomans and now needed to be liberated.
	(ii) Greece perceived as the foundation and cradle of civilisation in Europe by poets and artists and this led to nationalist consciousness.
	(iii) Greek nationalists received support from other Greeks living in exile.
88	In the 19th century in Europe, the female figures became an allegory of the nation in the following ways.
	•The artists, in the 18th and 19th centuries in Europe, wanted to represent a country, as if it was a person. In other words, they wanted to personify the nation. Nations were represented as female figures. The female form did not belong to any particular woman in real life. It was an abstract idea, which gave the nation a concrete form. The female figure became an allegory of a nation.
	•In France, the female form was given the name of Marianne, which represented the nation. Her characteristics were red cap, the tricolour and the cockade, drawn from those of Liberty and the Republic.
	•Similarly, Germania became the allegory of the German nation. Germania wears a crown of oak leaves because oak stands for heroism.

89	The 1830s were years of great economic hardship in Europe because:
	•The first half of the nineteenth century saw an increase in population, all over Europe. There was scarcity of jobs and few employment opportunities.
	•Population from rural areas migrated to the cities in search of jobs. They lived in overcrowded slums.
	•Small producers in towns faced stiff competition from imports of cheap machine goods from England.
	•In those parts of Europe where aristocracy was strong and enjoyed enormous powers, the peasants groaned under the burden of feudal dues and taxation.
	•The rise of food prices or a year of bad harvest, added to the miseries of the common man

- -Polish was used for church gatherings and all religious instructions. The use of Polish came to be seen as a symbol of the struggle against Russian domination.
- The most serious source of nationalist tension in Europe after 1871 was the area called the Balkans.
 - -The Balkans was a region of geographical and ethnic variation comprising modern day-Romania, Bulgaria. Albania, Greece, Macedonia, Croatia, Bosnia-Herzegovina, Slovenia, Serbia and Montenegro whose residents were known as Slavs.
 - -A large part of Balkans was under the control of Ottoman empire.
 - -The disintegration of Ottoman empire made this region very explosive.
 - -One by one its European subject nationalities broke away from its control and declared independence.

As the different Slavic nationalities struggle to define their identity and independence the Balkan area became an area of intense conflict.

- -The Balkan states were fiercely jealous of each other and hoped to get more territory at the expense of others.
- -During this period there was intense rivalry among the European powers over trade and colonies as well as naval and military might.
- -Each power-Russia, Germany, England, Austria-Hungary-was keen on countering the hold of other powers over the Balkans and extending its control over the area.
- -This led to a series of wars in the region and finally the First World War.
- 123 Italy had a long history of fragmentation.
 - -Italians were scattered over several dynastic states as well as the multi-national Habsburg empire.
 - -During the middle of the 19th century Italy was divided in to seven states of which only one Sardinia-Piedmont was ruled by an Italian princely house.

	exchange and growth during the 19th century Europe.

There was enormous increase in population all over Europe.

Population from rural areas migrated to the cities to live in overcrowded slums and could not afford to fulfil the basic needs.

Unemployment increased. In most countries, there were more job seekers than employment.

Cheap machine made goods from England were giving stiff competition to small producers of European Towns.

The price of food inflated many folds due to bad harvest. It led to a widespread pauperism in European towns.

Following are the factors which led to the rise of Nationalism in Europe: 129

> Decline of Feudalism: Feudal lords were a great tumbling bloc in the way of the rise of the nationalism feelings among the people. But their mutual warfare and crusades weakened them.

> Weakness of Papacy and the Roman Empire: The renaissance and reformation movements led to awakening among the people and weakened the authority of the pope and the Holy Roman Empire. Consequently, national churches and national states were established in many countries.

> Foreign Rule: in certain countries foreign rule also played an important part in the growth of nationalism.

> Reaction against Injustice: Sometimes reaction against the arbitrary rule of unjust monarchs also gave birth to the feeling of nationalism.

Contribution of Great writers: The writings of great poets, politicians and philosophers like Machiavelli, J.S. Mill, Fitch, Mazzini, Garibaldi etc. went a long way in rousing political consciousness and national sprit among the people.

Nationalism is a feeling of people within a state territory, which makes them develop a sense of 130 collective identity and share history or descent. This feeling works as a binding force among people.

Before 1789, France was under absolute monarchy. With French Revolution, Monarchy was thrown out and a sovereign body of French citizens was established.

This revolution made France the nation-state and made many political and constitutional changes like:

- (i) A new French flag was adopted to replace former Royal Standard.
- (ii) The Estates General renamed as General Assembly, became an elected body.
- (iii) Centralised administration and uniform civil laws were made for citizens.
- (iv) Uniform weighing and measurement system was adopted.
- (v) French became the national language of France.

All these changes give a clear expression of collectivism and gave people true power to shape the destiny of France. Thus, France became a nation-state and world got a clear expression of nationalism through the French Revolution.

- (i) Prussia took on the leadership of the movement for national unification. 131
 - (ii) Its chief minister, Otto von Bismarck, was the architect of this process carried out with the help of the Prussian army and bureaucracy.

- (iii) Three wars over seven years with Austria, Denmark and France ended in Prussian victory and completed the process of unification.
- (iv) In January 1871, the Prussian king, William I, was proclaimed German Emperor in a ceremony held at Versailles.
- (v) On January 1871, an assembly comprising the princes of the German states, representatives of the army, important Prussian ministers including the chief minister Otto von Bismarck gathered in the Hall of Mirrors in the Palace of Versailles to proclaim the new German Empire headed by Kaiser William I of Prussia.
- Sentiment of Nationalism in the last half of the 19th century:
 - (i) Towards the last quarter of the 19th century, nationalism could not retain its idealistic liberal-democratic sentiments of the first half of the century but became a narrow belief with inadequate ends.
 - (ii) Nationalist groups became increasingly intolerant, which led to war.
 - (iii) Major European powers manipulated the nationalist aspirations to further their own imperialist aims.
 - (iv) Source of nationalist tension in Europe was the area called Balkans.
 - (v) Idea of romantic nationalism in the Balkan together with the disintegration of the Ottoman Empire made this region very explosive.
 - (vi) One by one, European nationalities broke away from its control and declared independence.
 - (vii) The Balkan people based their claims for independence or political rights on nationality to prove that they were once independent but were subjugated by a foreign power.
 - (viii) Slavic nationalities struggled to define their identity and independence. Hence, the Balkan area became an area of intense conflict.
